Boot Düsseldorf 2024 serves as the stage for Cantiere del Pardo to unveil three new models that epitomize the shipyard's commitment to innovation and client-driven design. Scheduled for their on-the-water debuts at future Cannes Yachting Festivals, these additions showcase the shipyard's prowess in both power and sailing categories.

Pardo GT65

Pardo Yachts introduces the GT65, the latest jewel in its Walkaround range. Striking a perfect balance between the GT52 and the upcoming GT75 flagship, the GT65 promises an unparalleled onboard living experience. The design focuses on creating livable and cozy interior spaces, emphasizing a seamless connection with the sea.

Notable features include a fold-away tender garage, a reverse bow characteristic of Pardo Yachts, and innovations like a retractable TV and a foredeck outdoor lounge. The GT65, with its versatile layout options, is set to debut in Cannes 2025, showcasing a blend of advanced technology and unwavering commitment to comfort and style.

Grand Soleil 60 Long Cruise

Grand Soleil Yachts unveils the GS 60 LC, an embodiment of efficiency, timeless style, and constant innovation. Designed for long-distance cruises, this flagship of the Long Cruise series redefines bluewater sailing. Notable design elements include a V-shaped bow, "step-free" deck layout, and enhanced cockpit ergonomics.

Below deck, the spacious saloon and navigation station, semi-raised galley, and comfortable cabins underscore a commitment to exceptional comfort and easy sailing. The GS 60 LC, anticipating its debut at the Cannes Yachting Festival in 2025, is a testament to Grand Soleil Yachts' dedication to sophistication and innovation in sailing.

Grand Soleil Blue

The Grand Soleil Blue project represents a paradigm shift towards sustainability in boating. Collaborating with experts like Matteo Polli and Nauta Design, Cantiere del Pardo crafts a 10-meter sailing boat with zero environmental impact during sailing and complete recyclability. Sustainable construction, design for disassembly, electric propulsion, solar panels, thermoplastic sails, and hydrogeneration define the innovative features of GS Blue. Co-financed by the Emilia-Romagna region, this project symbolizes a "bluer" future at sea.

These new additions to the Cantiere del Pardo fleet showcase a commitment to pushing boundaries, creating vessels that not only deliver outstanding performance but also pioneer sustainability in the maritime industry.

Cantiere del Pardo was founded in 1973 in Italy. Pardo Yachts, the brand of Cantiere del Pardo dedicated to powerboats, was born in 2016. The first model, the Pardo 43, was launched in 2017. Grand Soleil was founded in 1973 and is famous for its yachts, which ensure performance for regattas, autonomous long-distance navigation, as well as a high level of sustainable consciousness.
